Childhood Dresser Grows Up

Tween-age DREAM

By Jenny Tzakas Interiors

Combining my 11-year-old client's two favorite things—the color turquoise and elephants—created the perfect tween girl room! Walls were painted Jamaican Aqua from Benjamin Moore. Starry Night rug from Stanton gave the space a cozy feeling. A custom

Cozy Moroccan-styled bedding headboard in creamy beige and Moroccan-inspired bedding make the perfect place to end the day.

Roman shades featuring a fabulous elephant pattern were custom made and created a statement. The client's childhood hutch/dresser was upcycled using grey Annie Sloan chalk paint and finished in a metallic glaze. Himalayan faux fur chair from Pottery Barn is a perfect reading nook and the shaded crystal chandelier is the frosting on the cake! Don't you wish you had a room like this as a kid? I do. 🏠
